Praise For Mayor, Clerk and City Treasurer.

BOOKS IN GOOD CONDITION

Financial Statement Shows City Lost
$45,781.94 on Water Plant in Last Six Years.

The report of Field Examiners James D. Smith and Robert C. James who recently investigated the financial affairs of the offices of the mayor, clerk and treasurer, has been received here and is on file in the office of City Treasurer Foster. The report is made to W. A. Dehority, State Examiner of the State Board of Accounts. The report is filed as an official document and is subject to public inspection.

For the most part the report pays a glowing tribute to the officials in the manner of conducting their offices. The figures—especially the financial condition of the water and light plant—presents some interesting facts. These figures are given in connection with the examination of the records of the treasurer's office from September 3, 1906 until the close of business December 31, 1912. A brief history of the plant and the various bond issues concerning it are included. One of the most startling things shown in the report is the loss to the city in conducting the plant. The report says that the city has lost $45,781.94 in operating the water and light plant for a period of six years or from September 3, 1906, to December 31, 1912.

The report in an effort to cover up this immense loss states that the city yearly expends in free electricity and water something like $12,437. This "free" list includes the electricity used in the pedestal lamps and their upkeep. The examiners say in their report concerning the light plant as follows: "The city sustains a very great loss by not having all water customers on meter service. There are approximately 1200 water consumers and only 97 are on meter service. The city council, however, has placed an order for 115 meters which will be installed as rapidly as possible."

The books of the present officers were found in good condition and the examiners threw bouquets at the mayor, clerk and treasurer. This is what they have to say for Thomas S. Cauley, city clerk: "The system of the office is almost perfect, all the reports are neatly kept and everything pertaining to the business of the office is carefully filled and so arranged so we had no difficulty what ever in securing any desired data. Mr. Cauley's record as a city official is indeed splendid and too much can not be said in his praise."

Now comes Mayor Black: "We had no trouble whatever in checking Mayor Black's record. The docket shows date of collection of all fines and the payment to the city and the county treasurer. He keeps a cash book which in every instance was a verification of his docket. He makes settlement of all collections quarterly. Mayor Black is a capable official."

James Foster, city treasurer also gets a large bouquet from the examiners. The report says: "James Foster, the present city treasurer, was appointed by Mayor Black August, 1912, to fill the unexpired term of Gurney Cohee, resigned. The appointment was certainly an admirable one. Treasurer Foster's system is complete in every detail, his records are neatly kept and everything pertaining to the city business is carefully filed and so arranged that we had no trouble in checking his office. He is very solicitous of the interests of the city, diligent in all collections of street and sewer assessments, water and light rentals, having at present few delinquents. The city of Rushville is to be congratulated in having so efficient an official at the head of its financial department."

The record of former Mayor Harvey Cowing showed that he over paid the county treasurer $10 in fines and that this was once reported in the examination made by the deputy attorney general. Another error cost Mr. Cowing $7.25 which he paid to City Treasurer Foster, March 5, 1913.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN IS DEAD AT MILROY

of Stomach Trouble at Home of Relatives Today.

FUNERAL FRIDAY MORNING

Jasper Richey, age seventy-four years, died at the home of his brother and sister, William Richey and Mrs. Nadel, in Milroy this morning at ten-fifteen o'clock. His demise was due to an aggravating stomach trouble which caused his several cases of sickness in his later years. Mr. Richey's home is in Shelbyville, but when he had a serious attack last February, he was taken to his relatives' home in Milroy and had been there ever since. He recovered from that attack, but took sick two weeks ago and had gradually grown worse until the end came this morning.

Mr. Richey was a member of the Masonic lodge at Waldron. His wife has been dead many years. He was a veteran of the civil war. The funeral will be held at the residence in Milroy Friday morning and the cortege will leave the house at nine o'clock for burial in Ogden cemetery over in Shelby county. He leaves no children.

New Act Eliminates Distinction Between Steam Roads and Traction Lines.

REQUIRES FILING OF TARIFFS

The railroad commission of Indiana just before it went out of existence, sent a circular letter to officials of all interurban companies in the state, pointing out that two bills passed at the recent session of the legislature eliminate the distinction between steam and interurban roads in the matter of regulation as to freight rates and rules governing such transportation, and requiring interchange between all classes of carriers in the state, without regard to their motive power.

"Interurban companies, therefore, are required to prepare and file tariffs with the commission, governing local freight rates," the circular said. "Also, tariffs are required to be filed establishing joint rates over interurban lines; and in each instance, the company initiating the joint rate shall procure the concurrence of the connecting carrier. These tariffs are required to be filed within sixty days from the date thereof."

A CAREFUL ESTIMATE IS GIVEN

Recommendations as to How Conditions Could Best be Bettered Are Contained in Document.

A concise estimate of the conditions in Rushville, which were uncovered by the sanitary survey taken in connection with the health institute conducted by the state and city board of health here last week, and some recommendations which would result in great improvement, are contained in a report by Dr. W. H. Wylie, chairman of the health and housing committee of the Social Service and Civic Improvement Association, to the city board of health.

At a meeting last night the members of the city board unanimously adopted the report and requested that it be printed. The executive committee of the association, composed of C. M. Yocum, pres.; Mrs. T. W. Betker; Mrs. A. L. Stewart, sec'y; Mrs. F. G. Hackleman, R. A. Innis, vice-pres.; Robert L. Tompkins, treas.; W. H. Wylie. The report in full follows:

To the Board of Health, Rushville, Indiana.

In preparing the program for Health Week, held in Rushville, April 29-May 2, it was deemed wise by the city and county health officers, in consultation with the representative of the state board of health, to arrange for a sanitary survey of the city under the auspices of the Social Service and Civic Improvement Association, the results of which should be reported upon at a public meeting to be held Friday afternoon, May 2. In accordance with this recommendation a party consisting of Dr. Owen of the state board of health, Dr. Lewis, city health officer, (a part of the time Dr. D. D. VanOsdel), and W. H. Wylie, chairman of the committee on health and housing of the Social Service and Civic Improvement Association, accompanied by C. H. Wolf, a photographer, spent a day and a half visiting various parts of the city, in order to learn the actual conditions. A number of photographs were secured, which were exhibited in connection with the report made at the meeting above named, and which are submitted together with this report. It has been deemed wise that some formal report should be made to your body, with some suggestions as to how conditions may be improved.

1. The Business District.

A trip along the alleys in the rear of the business houses, and into the back yards and entrances, revealed conditions which should not be permitted to exist. Rubbish of all kinds had been permitted to accumulate about the back doors, and in the rear of the premises which in many instances was a menace to health, and objectionable from every viewpoint.

In some places these piles of rubbish were of such quantities and appearance as to indicate that it had been accumulating for a considerable time. In a number of places there were open manure heaps convenient breeding places for the flies, and located near enough to restaurants, groceries and candy stores to guarantee that such places would have a sufficient supply of flies. In one place was a large accumulation of sweepings from the city streets, which should be hauled away at more frequent intervals. In some places the paved alleys were in a neglected condition,

CITY PLANS TO OIL ALL STREETS

by Council and Date Set For Hearing Remonstrators.

BARRETT'S "JOKER" JOLTED

Dr. Parsons Defeats Plan to Have Property Owners Pay For Sweeping Brick Streets.

Howard E. Barrett's perfectly lovely oiling law, which was put through the last legislature by Senator Cary Jackson, was given a work-out last night at the city council and incidentally the "joker" was handed a knock-out by Dr. Parsons et al.

The city will be a sure enough dustless place judging from the number of petitions presented to the city council. To avoid confusion, the council passed a resolution providing that every gravel or crushed stone street in the city should be oiled. In this way the property owners will have a chance to say whether they want it or not and the resolution can be modified at the proper time. The parts of streets that were granted the right to oil last night will be done under private contract and the resolution covering the entire city will be modified so as to exclude these streets. May 26 was named as the time for hearing remonstrators and receiving bids.

Here are the petitions received asking that oiling be done either by private contract or by the city: Seventh street, from Main to Morgan; First street, Julian to Main; Harrison street, Fifth to Ninth; Morgan street, entire length; Seventh street, Morgan to Big Four railway; Perkins street, Seventh to Ninth; Ninth street, Main to Sexton; Perkins street, Ninth to Eleventh; Harrison street, First to Eleventh; Jackson street, Third to Second; Jackson street, Fifth to Seventh; Fifth street, Perkins to Big Four railway; East Eighth street, Willow to end of street; Arthur street, Third to Eleventh street; Eighth street, Harrison to Jackson.

Several of these petitions were for private contracts and the work on these can start any time and will in no way interfere with the resolution passed by the council. All the work of oiling will be done according to plans and specifications prepared by the city engineer and passed by the council last night. The plans state that the oiling will be done under the supervision of the street commissioner and city engineer. The original plans taxed the property owner for the spiking of any street. On motion of Councilman Parsons this part of the specifications was cut out and the city will pay for any material used in getting the street in shape for oiling.

Under the resolution passed by the council, if the work of oiling is done by the city, the property owner is given twenty days to pay the assessment or else it goes in on his taxes and draws interest. The plans provide that the contractor shall receive his pay thirty days after the work is completed.

Under this law, which was prepared by Howard E. Barrett and introduced by Cary Jackson in the last legislature, a provision is made that the city may let a contract for the sweeping of all brick streets and the same shall be charged to the property owners. This is the famous "joker" in the act. Since this is a part of the law governing street oiling, the city engineer had plans for the sweeping of the brick streets and they were presented to the council by Councilman Orme. It was at this point that Dr. Parsons took a hand in the proceedings.

Dr. Parsons told the council that only fifteen per cent of the people living on the brick streets put the dirt on them that the city was asking them to pay for removing. "I do not think that the property owners living on the brick streets of this city should be compelled to pay for the cleaning of the muck of other people," said Dr. Parsons. Continuing he said: "It has always been the custom for the city to clean the dirt streets here at least twice a year and since the brick streets belong to the city why not let the city care for them."

Councilman Orme was opposed to Dr. Parsons and thought that since the property owners on the brick streets did not have to pay for any oiling they should at least pay for the sweeping of the streets. Mr. Orme moved that the plans and specifications be adopted. On the vote Councilmen Moore and Newhouse

BIG FOUR RUNS TO BROOKVILLE NOW

Rail Connections With Stricken City
Established For the First Time Since the Flood.

ROUND TRIP IS MADE DAILY

The first work train from this side of Brookville went into that town last Friday night, says the Connersville News. With its entry the line of communication between Brookville and the outside world was reestablished for the first time since the flood.

But the reconstruction way suffered a prompt interruption, for Sunday night an engine on a freight train ran off the track, two miles northwest of Brookville and sewed up the right of way for several hours. The engine was hauled back on the track without much damage.

Tuesday for the first time since the flood tickets were sold from here to Brookville. A mixed train, consisting of one passenger coach and several freight cars, leaves the local depot at about nine o'clock each morning and reaches Brookville somewhat more than an hour later. Then the train, with as little delay as possible turns round and returns to this city.

HOMER STEWART KICKED BY HORSE

Painfully Injured This Morning as he Attempted to Get on Delivery Wagon.

THREE STITCHES REQUIRED

Homer Stewart, employed at the store of Stewart Brothers, corner of Second and Morgan streets, was very painfully injured this morning by being kicked in the face by the horse used for delivery purposes. Young Stewart was attempting to get on the wagon and his sudden appearance is believed to have frightened the horse. The blow landed on his jaw and he fell face downward in the gutter. No one was a witness to the accident and it was not known that he was hurt until it was seen he could not get on his feet. A large three-cornered cut was made on his cheek and it required three stitches to close the wound. The boy was rendered unconscious but was resting better this afternoon at his home. The injuries are not expected to prove serious.

RECENT OFFER IS REVIEWED

Also Shows Value of Investment in Young Industry.

BONUS OFFER IS STILL OPEN

Opportunity is at Hand to Locate
The Factory—Plans of Demonstrating are Set Forth.

The Ideal Husker company, which has been incorporated at $400,000 to manufacture a corn husker invented and patented by Rushville men, today issued a statement to show why Rush county men should not allow the opportunity to locate the factory here and also to make a good investment slip by. The recent announcement of a stock bonus is reviewed and the advantages of such an investment are set forth.

"For the following reasons everyone should identify themselves with this project," the statement says. "The incorporators have reduced their former holdings one-half and have agreed to give fifty per cent of stock with each $100 worth of stock purchased. The par value of the stock is $100 per share. It is fully paid, and is non-assessable and also non-taxable."

"This machine has passed through the experimental state and is now a perfected machine. This invention fills a long-felt want. Thousands of dollars do not have to be spent to create a demand as is usually the case in other inventions. The demand is already created. All that is necessary is to prove to the farmer that the machine will do the work."

"This will be done this fall by exhibiting the machine at several state and county fairs in the corn belt and by demonstrating the machine in the field. In this manner next year's entire output will be contracted for. It will be only a question of supply and demand after the prospective purchasers have been convinced that the machine will do the work."

"This factory should be located in Rushville and will be in Rushville if Rushville and Rush county people will buy sufficient stock to insure the success of the present plans."

"The demand for this machine is unlimited. This is sufficient to convince the most skeptical that this stock will increase very rapidly in value each year. Therefore, it is an opportunity from an investment standpoint that the most conservative should consider carefully and not allow it to pass without making an investment, especially while the fifty per cent bonus offer is on."

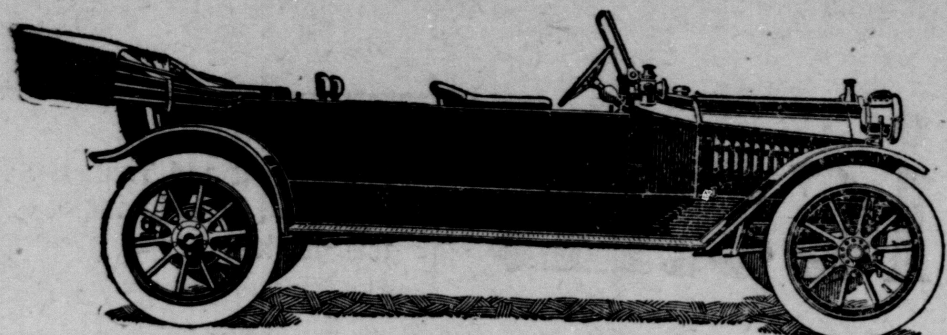

"A good investment is worth a lifetime of labor. This is your opportunity. It's up to you. What is your answer? Don't turn down the salesmen when they call on you to explain the proposition. Everybody get busy and help locate this factory in Rushville. The enormous demand for the corn husker will cause the plant to grow to enormous proportions in a few years. So will your holdings grow in value, also the dividends on your investment."

SIX AIR MEN PLAN OCEANIC FLIGHTS

To Try For $50,000 Prize of London Paper.

EARLY SUCCESS PREDICTED

Brown and Law, England, Herr Rumpler, Bleriot and Colonel Cody Will Make Attempt—Dr. Bell Believes Feat Possible With Course in Rarefied Atmosphere.

Six air men of leading importance in the profession have undertaken preparations to cross the Atlantic ocean in hydroaeroplanes to win the $50,000 offered as a prize by the London Daily Mail. The men are Henry Brown and Rodman Law, Americans, forming a team; Gordon England, a British airman; Herr Rumpler, a German inventor; Bleriot, inventor of the monoplane of his name, and Colonel Cody, formerly an American, but now a British subject.

The Mail offers its great prize on the condition that the flight shall be accomplished inside of seventy-two hours of continuous flying. There is no restriction against the machine alighting on water and replenishing its fuel from ships.

All those who contemplate making the attempt declare they will do so within a few months. They see no great obstacle to the feat. The German aeronautical experts, however, whose attention has been mostly concerned with rigid dirigibles, say the trip will not be made for several years; that it will cost $150,000 and will require a vastly far advanced machine.

Dr. Bell Enthusiastic.

Dr. A. Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone and a pioneer in the use of heavier than air flying machines, enthusiastically discussed recently Lord Northcliffe's offer of $50,000 for the first flight across the Atlantic in a hydroaeroplane within seventy-two consecutive hours. While certain modifications in existing machines ought to be effected, Dr. Bell repeatedly said that as aerial science stood today the English publisher's offer is a good sporting chance for air men.

"There are machines existing today," said Dr. Bell, "which, if they can continue doing for twenty hours what they have done already for shorter periods, will make the flight possible in a single day. The seventy-two hours is a much longer time than will be needed. If the ocean is to be traversed in an airship at all it will be in far less time than Lord Northcliffe allows."

"If I were to make the flight," went on the veteran inventor with boyish enthusiasm, "I wouldn't make any allowances for alighting at sea and replenishing my fuel. To make the trip at all it ought to be done in a single spurt. While hydroaeroplanes can take to the water and arise again into the air, their chances are against their doing anything of the sort. There is also very little likelihood of their finding the supply ship from which to replenish their tanks. Even if the wings of the airship are not injured by the descent the chances are that once on the water it would remain there until picked up or until, under the buffeting of the sea, it went lower still and disappeared."

Would Fly in Rarefied Air.

Dr. Bell's idea, based on his investigations then made with Mr. Baldwin, is that the greatest service will be got from the aeroplanes flying at great heights. Mr. Baldwin advanced the idea, which Dr. Bell at once accepted, that the resistance to the forward rush of an airship diminished in exact ratio with the density of the air. He found that life could be sustained at a height of five miles and that at that height the density of the air was one-third the normal density at sea level.

Therefore at that height a machine capable, with sufficient propeller revolutions, of driving forty miles an hour at sea level—and much greater speeds had actually been attained—would go at a rate of 120 miles an hour.

"Mr. Baldwin saw in his plan," said Dr. Bell, "the objection that the suffering of the aviator for want of air would be too great at this altitude for any prolonged effort." But Dr. Bell at once met the objection by saying that obviously, even if the atmosphere were thinned to one-third its normal density, a speed of three times the normal rate would project the aviator against exactly the same number of particles of oxygen as if he went forty miles an hour on sea level. In other words, the onward rush of the machine, increasing in precise ratio with the diminishing density of the air, would automatically condense the air and preserve a normal atmosphere. At the same time the higher speed would give the lighter air precisely the supporting power of heavier air at sea level with the lower speed that would be the best attainable in that density.

"Go up as high as you like," said Dr. Bell, "and your speed will go up with you. We used to think a balloon or dirigible the best for high flying. But now we know that is not true. A balloon in the rare atmosphere of the high skies would need to be expanded to triple its size to carry the weight with which it started. And, once aloft, it could not descend without letting off gas. The airship adjusts all this automatically by varying its speed."

PROFESSORS AS DUPES IN SMUGGLING OF CHINESE

Immigration Commissioner at Seattle Discovers Big Conspiracy.

Evidences of a conspiracy to smuggle Chinese laborers into this country in the guise of students under section 6 of the Chinese exclusion act have multiplied to such an extent that Immigration Commissioner De Bruler of Seattle, Wash., has sent a report to the head of the service at Washington regarding the operations of the Chinese and Americans whom he believes to be involved in the illicit traffic.

Aside from the report, it is explained that to get the Chinese across the Pacific many persons of good standing and quite innocent of the bold schemes of the directing geniuses of the conspiracy are employed. These have included university professors and attorneys of established reputations in this country and even Chinese who have been under the impression that they were helping in the laudable work of aiding educational progress in China. In his official report Mr. De Bruler says:

"Last summer an American with two Chinese students went to China and gathered together about 100 boys, for whom they secured section 6 certificates. Sixty-six of these boys were admitted at this port and forty-four at the port of San Francisco. All were destined to a private school of this city."

From sources deemed reliable it was learned, he declared, that the men were used as laborers and that each paid $1,000 or more to be brought over.

HE LIVES ON A MEAGER DIET.

Gardener Eats Only Bread, Potatoes and Porridge and Thrives.

Dr. Hindehed, the famous Dutch food scientist, who recently visited America and experimented for Horace Fletcher of thorough mastication fame, has just published some new results of his experiments. He now enjoys Danish state aid. He cites the case of Frederick Madsen, a gardener, a sound and strongly built man, but one who has never done anything to develop his strength. This gardener has for about ten years lived very plainly on rye bread, potatoes, oat and barley porridge, etc., and has never touched meat or tobacco, coffee, tea, beer or any spirits. He usually drinks water, rarely milk.

On this diet he does his gardening work, including digging and other severe work, and in spite of his extremely frugal living, unusually poor in albumen, he can get through quite as much as any meat eating man. For forty days this man lived exclusively on potatoes, and, contrary to what is generally supposed, this food proved easily and almost fully digestible, only 3 per cent remaining undigested against from 6 to 10 per cent of meat and milk—in fact, he was in every way suited by the potato fare and was quite prepared to go on living on it.

FIRM PAYS ITS MEN TO BATHE

Employees of Philadelphia Plant Rewarded at 15 Cents Per.

To promote health and comfort among their 700 employees Harrison Bros. & Co. of Philadelphia have offered to give every man employed at their plant 15 cents each time he takes a bath.

There are no strings to the offer. All that is necessary is that the bath be taken in the elaborately fitted bathrooms of the concern. As soon as a workman finishes bathing he will receive a check from an attendant, and on pay day he may have the checks cashed at the rate of 15 cents apiece.

The idea was suggested by Dr. Francis D. Patterson, former chief police surgeon of Philadelphia, whom the company has secured to look after the welfare of the men. Dr. Patterson is an old University of Pennsylvania football player and oarsman.

Pay Telephone Toll.

Don't overlook to pay your telephone toll before May 12 if you wish to avoid paying 15 cents extra for collection. No notice will be given by telephone.

ALL IS BUSINESS AT THE PITS

A GLIMPSE OF THE PITS, INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY

While the eyes of the public are naturally turned upon the drivers who will participate in the third annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes race which will be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30, there are other men who have their share of the work to do and upon whom the driver is largely dependent for his success. These are "the men at the pits," those expert workmen, who are able to make the most complicated repairs on a car in a miraculously short time. Every car must have its pit-men, and these men must work with the speed of lightning and the precision of machinery. When a car is compelled to come to the pits for repairs or tire changes, seconds are precious, and every man must know exactly what to do and when to do it. For the spectators, this pit work is as interesting and as exciting as the contest itself, and this year arrangements have been made so that the public will be able to enjoy this part of the performance to the fullest extent.

Jules Guyot and Paul Zuccarrelli, the Frenchmen who will compose the Peugeot team will be accompanied to this country by a large force of mechanics and repair men, who have secured their training in the Peugeot factory in Paris. So vitally important do the foreigners consider their pit work, that these men are kept in constant practice, and even when they are not engaged in racing they are forced to have "pit drill" almost daily.

Albert Guyot, the driver of the English Sunbeam car, is also a Frenchman, but his working force will be composed of men from the Sunbeam factory, which is located at Wolverhampton, England. They are a cosmopolitan lot, among them being a German, two Italians, an Irishman, two Frenchmen and several Englishmen.

YOUNGEST DRIVER IN GAME

F. L. ADAMS.

F. L. Adams, who now has the distinction of being the youngest race driver in America, has further added to his spectacular career by entering a car of his own design in the third annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes Race, which will be held at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway, May 30. Adams has given his car the somewhat cryptic title of "Snada," and it does not require very close figuring to discover the fact that this is Adams spelled backwards. He will drive the car himself and is following Bob Burman's example by going into strict training so as to be in perfect physical condition for the race. He is expecting his car to be completed in a few days and will give it thorough workout at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

CARES FOR CROWD

SPEEDWAY MANAGEMENT LOOKS CAREFULLY AFTER COMFORT OF VISITORS.

Grounds Policed by Military While Doctors and Hospitals are Always Handy.

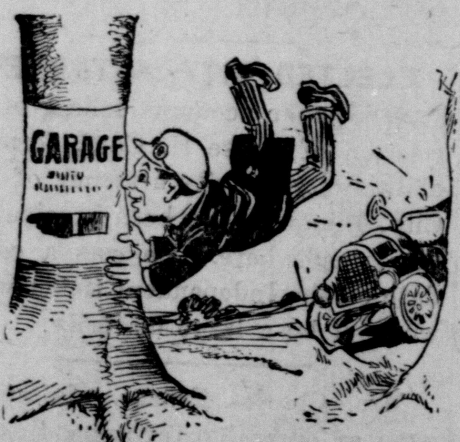

It is no small task to provide for the safety of 100,000 people, when those people are on pleasure bent, yet that is what the management of the Indianapolis Motor Speedway does every year, when the great 500-mile race takes place. During the four years which have elapsed since the Speedway became the center of American automobile racing, a system has been devised for looking after the crowds, which has been reduced to an exact science. Nothing is left undone which will provide for the comfort and safety of the visitors or for that of the men who drive the cars.

The Speedway grounds are policed by a detachment of patrolmen detailed to this duty by the Indianapolis Police Department, and in addition to these there is a large force of deputy sheriffs who are on the alert at all times. But the greatest factor for handling the crowds and keeping them out of harm's way, are the Speedway Guards, a regiment of trained soldiers under the command of Capt. W. P. Carpenter, a military officer who has years of experience behind him and who knows how to enforce the kind of discipline among his men which is conducive to the proper results. Every man under Capt. Carpenter's command has had military experience, and he is given a short beat to patrol under regular military orders. These men are also sworn in as deputy constables and have the power to arrest law violators. The men wear the regulation uniform of the United States army and carry military equipment. The Speedway maintains its own armory and arsenal, and consequently the Speedway guards are always completely equipped and present a neat and natty appearance.

Another detail that has proved of immense value is the hospital department, which is an assurance that should any one be taken suddenly ill while visiting the Speedway they will be given expert medical attention immediately. The central hospital is complete in itself, and in addition to this a number of emergency hospitals are scattered about the grounds. The chief surgeon, who is a prominent Indianapolis physician, is assisted by a large staff of doctors, nurses and orderlies. Ambulances are stationed at convenient points about the grounds and are always ready for instant call. While it is a noteworthy fact that there has been but little need for all of this medical equipment, the Speedway management feels that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and that it is better to be prepared every moment of the time, than it is to be unprepared and simply trust to luck. But one accident has occurred during the two preceding 500-mile races, but this has caused no relaxation of vigilance, and even extra precautions will be taken during the third annual 500-mile race, which will take place May 30.

BELGIAN PRINCESSES LOSE.

Court Withholds $12,500,000 From Leopold's Daughters.

The court of appeals at Brussels has delivered final judgment regarding the $12,500,000 of the late King Leopold's estate claimed from the Belgian government by his daughters, the Princesses Louise and Stephanie.

The court dismissed the appeal, in spite of the advice of the public prosecutor to the contrary.

This places Princess Louise, who is overwhelmed with debts, in a disastrous situation.

The suit was concerned with the entire Kongo property of the king. Recently the princesses rejected the proposals of the ministers of justice that they take $7,500,000 as their share. The property will now go to the state and the Niederfulbach foundation.

CANAL TO BE READY MAY, 1914

Colonel Goethals So Informs Steamship Company.

The excavation of Culebra cut, in the Panama canal, is completed, except three miles at Culebra, embracing the area of slides. A little more than 10,000,000 cubic yards of excavation remains. This work will be finished in October.

A steamship company cabled to Colonel Goethals recently asking when it could advertise for traffic through the canal and asking the probable date when the first ship would pass through. Colonel Goethals answered that the canal would be completed and ready for ships in May, 1914.

Stale Styles For China.

Men who have wondered what becomes of the large stocks of hats, caps and clothing that remain unsold at the close of each season in this country will be interested to learn that a considerable portion of such stock is disposed of in China, where the men are adopting the dress of their western brothers. The rising generation of Chinese is particularly keen for headgear worn in America, but the styles seen there are always those that were in vogue in this country the year before. Much of the men's apparel that fails to find a market in this country finds its way to the far east. In a walk through the streets of any Chinese city one sees derbies, fedoras and caps that bear American labels. Most of the caps are of British make because many of the tourists come from London, and in selecting a cap the native has no guide except the headgear he sees on foreigners.—New York Herald.

WOULD BE KINGS PLAGUE ALBANIA

Score of Pretenders Is Nation's Pest.

TEN HAVE STRONG CLAIMS.

Crown Seekers In Two Classes, First Having Weird Names and Unassailable Ancestry and Second Being Sons of Reigning Sovereigns, Respectable and Dull—Harald Most Likely.

Tumultuous Albania is suffering from a plague of pretenders. That any man should want to reign in Albania is a puzzle in itself; but, in fact, there are about ten Europeans with "legitimate, indefensible" claims to be Albania's rightful king, in addition to which there are about ten persons more who have no claims, but have very much better prospects.

The second class consists of princely younger sons of reigning sovereigns, all of them respectable, talented and dull, with nothing at all in common with Albania. The first class consists of hitherto obscure but picturesque personages with weird names and secular pedigrees, who all swear they are descended from some prince, brigand or patriot in Albania's bloody past.

The most likely of the uninteresting respectable candidates is Prince Harald, younger brother of King Christian of Denmark. Harald is a brother of another brand new sovereign, King Haakon of Norway, and he is married to a princess of Schleswig-Holstein. He is a brother-in-law of August Wilhelm, the kaiser's third son.

In Picturesque Class.

The most interesting of the picturesque class of candidates are the descendants of Skanderbeg. George Castriot or Skanderbeg was Albania's fifteenth century ruler and defender. Until a few years ago no one knew that he had left any descendants. But now that the Albanian question has grown acute descendants have sprung up in thick crops.

The most active is Prince Juan Aladro Kastrioti, a black eyed, good looking Spaniard, a genuine aristocrat, who once represented Spain at The Hague. Prince Juan first preferred his claims to the Albanian throne in 1902. He proved that he is descended from Skanderbeg's daughter. He let fly batches of proclamations at the Albanians, begging them to foster their native culture (which they haven't got) and not to worry about religion (which they don't). In those days an Albanian committee was sitting in Rome, pretending to run Albanian interests, but in reality running Italian. The committee adopted Prince Juan as rightful claimant to Albania's then nonexistent throne.

Last November, when the Turks were beaten and it became plain that Albania wanted a king, the Albanians said what a nice thing it is to have a man who is descended from Skanderbeg's daughter. But at this moment there arose two gentlemen from Naples who poured cold water on the Prince Juan enthusiasm by announcing that they are descended from Skanderbeg's son.

Have Strongest Claim.

On the legitimist principle these two Neapolitans have the strongest claim to the Albanian throne. They are Giovanni Castrioti Skanderbeg, marquis of Auletta, and his cousin, Filippo, Baron di Fossaceca. Which has the best right is doubtful. Both are descendants of Ferdinando Castrioti Skanderbeg, whom a whole mass of historical evidence and family records brings back to the great Skanderbeg. The two cousins Skanderbeg have issued a statement proclaiming they are the rightful heirs. They declare they are too sure of their position to push their claims, but that they also do not intend to renounce them. They add that Prince Juan Aladro Kastrioti, the Spanish grandee, has no claims at all.

Next in importance to the Skanderbeg posterity come various claimants from the families of Paleologi and Ghika. The Ghikas are a Roumanian family of Albanian origin which ruled on the Danube for many years.

Two Paleologi in Field.

The most important is Prince Nicholas Nemanjo Paleologos Ducas Angelos Comnenos. The prince lives in a modest house in the Rue de Chiajo, in Naples. He issues a circular in which he says that all Italian genealogists admit him to be the direct posterity and legitimate heir of the emperors of the east, who in 1453 lost Constantinople to the Turks and with Constantinople lost their suzerainty over Albania and Epirus. The prince appeals to the powers to accept him as the rightful heir of the Emperor Constantine XI, "who lost all in the defense of the Christian faith and of the freedom of the peoples of the orient."

The prince is reckoning without his rival, Colonel Martyn Andreyevitch Paleolog of the Eighteenth Russian regiment of chasseurs, who declares that it is he who is the rightful king of Albania. The colonel is an honest, penniless soldier, who lost an ear at Liaoyang.

Sall Beg, a Moslem notable of Herzegovina, has a better and more recent claim than any one. He is a direct descendant of Ali Pasha of Janina, Byron's friend. Of Ali Pasha's reality as an Albanian chief there is no doubt.

QUEEN SOPHIA.

Consort of King Constantine, New Ruler of Greece.

Washington, May 7.—A new princess has been added to the royal household of Greece. The Greek legation has received a cablegram announcing the birth of a daughter to the queen.

SPAIN EXPERIENCING GENERAL UNEASINESS

Widespread Fear for the Safety of the King.

Madrid, May 7.—As he made his departure for Paris, King Alfonso received the greatest send-off ever known. Public opinion has been deeply stirred over the recent attempt on his life and the reports of plots against him and the great precautions that have been taken in France to protect against anarchists.

Great crowds watched the departure of the king and his suite here and acclaimed him with unsurpassed enthusiasm. There were similar enthusiastic crowds at Valladolid, Burgos and Victoria. They invaded the railroad stations and thronged about the train, which made it difficult for the gendarmes to clear the track.

There is a lively newspaper discussion as to the reason for the present French visit. Premier Romanones insists that it is merely a courtesy call, but the idea prevails that it is connected with Spain's entry into one of the European alliances, especially in view of the greatly increased armament which is proposed in this year's budget. The fact that the visit coincides with the delicate situation of European relations is thought also to be significant.

When You Have Cold Lamb—Serve this Jelly With It

Knox Mint Jelly

1 envelope Knox Sparkling Gelatine.
½ cup cold water. 2½ cups boiling water.
2 bunches mint. Juice of 2 lemons.
1 cup sugar.

Soak gelatine five minutes in the cold water; wash and dry the mint and let it stand in the boiling water half an hour on the back of the range. Add the sugar to the gelatine and pour the water from the mint over the whole; let dissolve then strain and when cool add the lemon juice and pour into a mold.

This jelly has just the right body and flavor to make the cold lamb particularly enjoyable. Knox Gelatine makes excellent jellies for meat and fish garnishes—you can make these jellies in any form or flavor. Make one today.

Two Packages—Plain and Acidulated. Both Making Two Quarts (½ gallon) of Jelly. With the Plain Sparkling, lemons are used for flavoring; but with the Acidulated package comes an envelope of concentrated lemon juice—a great convenience when too busy to squeeze lemons. Both contain a tablet for coloring.

COLD STORAGE EGGS THE BEST

Experts Condemn Method of Farmers.

FRESH KILLED CHICKEN BAD

Committee at St. Louis Is Told That Dressed Poultry Is Best After Nine Months In Cold Storage—Fowl Should Be Starved Twenty-four Hours Before Being Killed.

Is the freshness of an egg a question of psychology?

Is a chicken better food when it has been kept a year or two after being killed and dressed than when it is freshly killed?

Both these questions were answered absolutely in the affirmative by experts testifying recently before the joint committee of the council and the house of delegates that is investigating the cost of living at St. Louis.

Royall H. Switzler, St. Louis food expert, told under oath, as were all witnesses, that the question of the freshness of an egg was largely a matter of psychology and that the greatest expert living could not tell the difference between an egg in cold storage nine months and one of the kind commonly denominated fresh which reach the retail market almost directly from the farmer.

Fresh Chicken Dangerous.

Miss N. E. Pennington, chief of the food research laboratory of the United States department of agriculture at Philadelphia, testified that a chicken which had been killed the day before was dangerous to eat. She said she would absolutely refuse to eat a freshly killed bird. The ideal chicken, she said, was one that had been held in storage nine months or a year. When one had been kept two years in storage, she said, it began to lose its flavor. Miss Pennington was on the witness stand nearly two hours. She had stopped in St. Louis to address a convention of shippers and was persuaded to appear before the cost of living investigators.

"One of the chief elements in the high cost of living problem," began Miss Pennington, "is the frightful amount of waste. The money value of eggs in the United States each year is $500,000,000. Of this 10 per cent, or $50,000,000, is dead loss because of waste in marketing the eggs. Somewhere between the hen and the consumer $50,000,000 worth of eggs have gone to nothing."

"The poultry products of the country amount each year to $250,000,000, and again there is a 10 per cent loss, or one amounting to $25,000,000."

Not Enough Cold Storage.

"So," interrupted Delegate Scully, "we save 90 per cent in spite of cold storage?"

"In spite of it? Why, my dear sir, we haven't nearly enough of it. The waste commences, and by far the greater part of it develops on the farm," retorted Miss Pennington.

"The farmer doesn't gather his eggs quickly enough. He lets them prosper in the incubator of the summer sun. Then they go to the storekeeper, where they are held for a time in a warm room. Afterward a great quantity of our eggs is shipped in nonrefrigerated box cars that are excellent incubators. In the course of three or four weeks this alleged 'fresh egg' reaches the city market."

"It is the good cold storage eggs and poultry that Missouri and adjoining states send out to east and west coasts. The poor fresh product you keep at home. And maybe one reason there is so much complaint here is because you get so little of the cold storage food."

"To get a fresh egg or a good chicken out of cold storage it must have been a fresh egg or a good chicken when it went into storage."

How to Kill Chickens.

"To begin with, there are few who kill their chickens in the right way. Here is the proper way to commence. Starve the chicken for twenty-four hours, so that the intestines will have collapsed and it will be easy to get the blood out. Don't cut off the chicken's head, but stun it, and sever the jugular vein."

"If you cut off the chicken's head you cut other arteries and veins besides the jugular one, and the chicken cannot bleed properly. Pick the feathers dry. Keep the chicken in a temperature of 32 degrees for ten days and ship it to market in a refrigerated car."

"How long," asked Dr. Randall, "can a chicken be kept in cold storage and be good?"

"Well, nine months or a year is a good period," answered Miss Pennington. "But I should say that a chicken two years old in storage would begin to lose flavor."

Women Are More Manlike.

W. A. Haselden, one of the few humorists in the ranks of the British caricaturists, believes the suffrage movement is evolving a new type of femininity much disliked by mere man. He says: "Women are becoming more manlike in figure, face and brain every day. The pretty, tender face will soon be the face of the past, but as it gets scarcer and scarcer men will admire and value it more than ever."

Scorching Votes.

The pluralities scored by the republican state ticket in Michigan, according to the official returns just compiled, range from 25,000 to 48,000 over the Democrats, while as compared with the "progressive" party vote the Republican vote was more than two to one. Last fall Roosevelt got 214,584 votes in Michigan as against 152,244 for Taft and 150,751 for Wilson. The "progressive" plurality was 62,340. Roosevelt received in Michigan last November 53,000 votes more than he did in Indiana, while Taft received a thousand less in Indiana than in Michigan. Colonel Roosevelt made a special appeal for the defeat of the Republican ticket in Michigan and Senator Beveridge stumped the State in behalf of the "progressive" ticket.

In Chicago, where the Republicans beat the "progressives" nearly three to one at the recent municipal election, in which the Chicago Tribune, Chicago Post and other "progressive" organs drew the party line, Taft got 78,875 votes last fall as against 166,061 for Roosevelt. Peoria, which elected a Republican mayor the other day, cast 9,229 votes for Roosevelt last fall and 2,594 for Taft. In St. Louis the "progressive" vote shrunk from 24,746 last fall to less than 5,000 at the recent municipal election, although Colonel Roosevelt wrote a letter appealing for the defeat of the Republican candidate for mayor, whom he accused of betraying him because, as a Roosevelt delegate to the Chicago convention, he declined to participate in a bolt.

The bull moose party seems to bear a startling resemblance to Jonah's gourd, while the Republican party persistently refuses to die "like the old whig party."

Country Migration.

The exodus of city people into the surrounding country at this time of the year is becoming a great annual migration. It is in a way a part of the national restlessness. Yet it no doubt brings more returns in health to a business man than any other way in which he can spend his money.

It is an inevitable reaction from the crowded way in which cities and towns have been built. Where the first settlers reserved liberal lots for themselves, as they easily could do, the ordinary American town and city does not seem uninviting as a year around residence.

Which suggests that any man who puts up a new house makes a mistake to stint himself on his land any more than he can help. The house with a good size lot a wide lawn, room for a little shrubbery and trees and a garden, is an invitation for any man to spend his entire year at home. If he snuggles up to within a few feet of the next house the time will come, if he is prosperous, when he will chafe at these cramped conditions, and feel that he must have a country home with its wider spaces.

The movement for good roads is one of the best indications of better conditions in a nation's life. As roads were built, and various communities were brought into contact with each other, absolutism in government began to disappear from Christendom and the "consent of the governed" began to be a factor. Fifty years of road building in France, from 1740 to 1790, when the several Louis built 15,000 miles of military highways, brought the people of the French provinces into such close touch with each other that the French Revolution became possible. When Napoleon later extended and perfected the system he dug the grave of monarchy in France, and made its government "of the people, by the people, for the people." So today France stands first of all the nations of the earth in the wealth per capita of its people and in the general distribution of the land.

From the way Congressman Sisson feels about the imminence of a Jap war, it would seem good judgment for him to put his shooting irons under his pillow.

These yellow newspaper editors who are urging on war with Japan might not be willing to enlist, but probably they would take office jobs in the war department.

The one thing that seems to bother Bill Haywood is not getting arrested.

HEALTH BOARD
ADOPTS REPORT

refuse and filth of various kinds having been allowed to accumulate and remain long enough to produce conditions that were unhealthful. At places there were boxes at the rear doors which might well be an impediment to traffic, as well as unsightly and dangerous to health. There was very commonly found such piles of boxes, waste paper, and rubbish of all kinds, as to not only be unfavorable to health, but to very seriously increase the danger from fire. In only a few places was there manifest the proper desire to keep the premises in healthful and presentable condition.

2. Abattoirs.

The two abattoirs which supply meat to the Rushville public were also visited. It was found that the proprietors were endeavoring to keep their establishments in good condition, and to supply the people with clean and wholesome meat. So far as could be ascertained there was no resort to chemicals in order to preserve meat unfit for consumption. It was felt in one case that the premises might be kept in more sanitary condition. The bone pile did not have a sufficient covering of lime to prevent the flies from swarming and breeding in it; the chute for carrying away the offal had become clogged with refuse, and was not kept as clean as should be; and there was an accumulation of rubbish about the premises that was unsightly and also more or less unwholesome. In one establishment a new abattoir is in process of construction, which when completed will afford almost ideal facilities for supplying the public with good meat.

3. Dairies.

Visits were made to six dairies in and near the city. In two of these there was found the equipment, and the facilities for handling milk under healthful conditions. In three dairy barns there were found the concrete floors required by the state board of health; and in two of these there was evident the proper desire to keep them clean and wholesome. In some of those not so equipped there was manifest a praiseworthy effort to secure as sanitary conditions as possible with dirt floors. So far as it was possible to examine the conditions under which milk was handled and kept, it was learned that in general the effort was being made to produce clean milk. In some instances, however, it was learned that cans and utensils were not kept as clean as should be. In almost every instance it was found that great heaps of manure were kept adjacent to or quite near, the barn in which the cows were milked; which should not be allowed to exist. It is but fair, however, that it was claimed that this is not the rule; that the recent heavy rains had prevented the ordinary disposal of the manure. In view of the fact that milk is the most easily infected of all food products; and in view of the fact that it is the common food of children, invalids and those who are least able to resist disease; it would seem that too great care can not be taken in maintaining those conditions in which milk can be handled as it should be. And since who are making every effort to supply the public with clean and wholesome milk must compete in the open market with those who do not take proper precautions, and are handicapped because of the greater expense entailed in maintaining the proper conditions, it would seem not only fair to the producer, but wise for public welfare for such steps to be taken, either by publicity, or by frequent inspection, or other such means as you may deem wise, to encourage the production of good milk.

4. Housing Conditions.

A visit through the various parts of the city fully sustains the claim that Rushville is a beautiful and healthful community. The appearance and condition of a very considerable part of the city shows that the citizens take a laudable pride in their homes and surroundings. Yet it must be admitted that there are some places which are truly slums in any place of the kind to be found in any city of the state. Of a few houses in our midst Dr. Owen said that conditions were fairly as bad as anything to be found in the notorious suburb of Terre Haute—Taylorville. Such houses are a menace to the health, not only of the people who inhabit them, but the whole community.

The responsibility for the bad conditions is not always easy to arrive at. In some places, where the house itself is not of necessity insanitary, the fault is probably the shiftlessness and unclean habits of the tenants. In other cases the houses themselves are so faulty that it would be difficult for tenants to maintain proper conditions if they tried. One of the wrong conditions was due to the emptying of wash water and other slops into the yard at the back door. Another very common danger was the close proximity of privy vaults to the house. It was found quite generally that these vaults were open, and no effort made to prevent flies from breeding. In fact, without having made a careful survey of the whole town with this in mind, it seems quite probable that the unprotected vault is quite general. In one house visited there was no closet whatever. Questions revealed the fact that a vessel was used, which when full was taken out and buried. In the same house chickens were kept under an addition immediately adjoining the house, and came up through broken boards in the floor until the floor was deeply incriminated with their droppings. Here was found a pump to a well lying below all this filth, the only water supply of the home; and the visitors were assured that it was good water. Another very general danger was found in the numerous heaps of manure. It is apparently the rule for those who keep horses or cows, in all parts of the city, to pile the manure in heaps outside the barn, unscreened and unprotected from the flies. In view of the demonstrated facts that flies find such heaps an ideal breeding place and that flies are such a menace to health, it would seem only reasonable to keep such refuse in fly-proof boxes; or at least to sprinkle the heaps with some one of the formulas which at once make manure piles safe from flies and add to its commercial value.

With regard to the insanitary houses it would seem that some steps should at once be taken. Recognizing that the problem is complex we hesitate to make recommendations. However, it would seem that no landlord should be permitted to rent property without making it sanitary. There are some houses which we believe should have your immediate attention. In our judgment your board should call the attention of the owners to existing conditions; and if steps are not at once taken to remedy matters, you should condemn the property as the law directs. In so far as conditions are the fault of the tenants, proper notice from you should be given to correct conditions which menace the health of the community.

The out-door closet, in our opinion is at best not conducive to public health; and as they generally exist are positively dangerous. With as good a sewerage system as Rushville affords it does not seem unreasonable to say that every house should be connected with the sewer. At the very least it should be required to make them fly-proof. It is to be hoped that the City Council will see fit to enact the proposed ordinance requiring vaults, garbage receptacles, and manure heaps to be so protected.

We recognize and commend the obvious interest which your board takes in the welfare of the city; and recognize the limitations under which you labor, especially the lack of a strong public sentiment which would support you in every step which you see to be for the general good. We desire to give you all possible support, and to make as easy as possible your difficult and thankless, but exceedingly important work. In view of the large number of citizens who are doing what lies in their power to make Rushville an even more beautiful and healthful place, it is our desire to enlist a still larger number; and to make even more general that civic pride, and that intelligent loyalty to the public welfare by means of which alone it will be possible to make our community all that can be desired. We assure you that whatever is in our power will be gladly done.

Respectfully submitted,

W. H. WYLIE,

If you want to prove a thing, try it.

If it stands the test, hang on to it.

When you get a good thing, keep it.

Shoes come in the same class, lots of leathers look great to the naked eye.

Try a microscope.

Lots of them make a fine impression at first.

But how will they stand the wear?

You are safe if you buy them of Cox, the shoe man. 45t6

Joaquin Miller and New York.

Describing New York as it was when Joaquin Miller first saw it, and Miller when New Yorkers first beheld him, a writer in the New York Evening Post says, "That was the period when the gossips were thrilled on learning that Mark Twain helped himself to olives with a fork, when Bryant, his white beard flowing out over the folds of a long Spanish cloak, moved through the bustling streets in scholarly abstraction, and Whitman set his verse to the rumble of a Broadway omnibus. It was against this background that Miller, poet of the Sierras, projected himself on his first tour of the east. He played the lion for a season, coming to evening parties in a velvet coat, corduroy trousers and a brilliant scarlet necktie. The tawny hair on his head and face gave him the outward appearance of a human sunburst. Thus equipped for action and having selected a divinity for his homage, he would throw himself on the drawing room floor at her feet, resting on one elbow and devouring her beauty with his eyes, while he recited for her benefit appropriate passages of his own verse."

JAMES ROUTT IS WELL AND HEALTHY

Rushville Young Man Who Was Sent to Denver, Colo., by Friends Here Completely Recovers.

HE IS GOING TO ELY, NEVADA

Jimmy Routt, who has been pronounced cured of tuberculosis by physicians at the Modern Woodmen sanitarium at Denver, Colorado, where he went several months ago, has written Walter Hubbard here that he intends to leave the hospital May 16, for Ely, Nevada, where he will make his home with Dr. and Mrs. Clyde Early and work in the mines. Dr. Early, who visited relatives here last winter, told Mr. Routt that he could not live long if he remained in Rushville, and when he consented to go to the Modern Woodmen hospital, Dr. Early and Walter Hubbard raised a good sum of money among the friends of Mr. Routt here to send him to Denver.

That the fortunate young man is thankful for the help he received is shown by the following from his letter:

"I am feeling better than I ever felt in my life, thanks to yourself, Clyde Early and the rest of my good friends at home. I know that I could not have lived six months longer in Rushville and to think that I am now a big, strong man, weighing 174 pounds and gaining every day!

"It all seems like a dream to me knowing the condition I was in. Now Hub, don't forget to tell all my old friends how much I appreciate what they did for me and that some day I may be able to come back to dear old Rushville and tell them myself."

TICKET OFFICE ROBBED.

The Pennsylvania railroad station at Dunreith was robbed Sunday. The thieves were rewarded with only a few pennies, all the money there was in the office. They destroyed a few tickets, but aside from that did no damage.

TRIAL MOVES SLOWLY

The case of James Forbes against the board of commissioners, asking that the James Forbes et al highway be not accepted, dragged along slowly in the circuit court today. In all seven witnesses were examined and the plaintiff had hardly made a start. It is thought that the case will not be completed before Friday afternoon.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Rushville People Know How to Save it.

Many Rushville people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Rushville citizen's recommendation.

Mrs. Ella Endicott, 125 S. Harrison St., Rushville, Ind., says: "We have used Doan's Kidney Pills in our family with good results. A member of the family suffered from severe pains through his back and had difficulty in straightening after stooping. His kidneys were also irregular in action. Finally he used Doan's Kidney Pills and they corrected the troubles."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

MONUMENTS! MONUMENTS!

Our stock of monuments this season, surpasses anything we have heretofore carried, embracing a neat selection from the modestly plain to the elaborately carved from model designs.

An order for a monument placed now will insure its erection for Decoration Day.

The Products from the numerous quarries in the Barre, Vermont, district vary, not alone in color, but also in quality of stock. Who selects yours?

Montello and Millstone granite are of one uniform quality, the highest grade of monumental granite quarried.

SHOOT TO KILL, POLICE ORDERS

Further Trouble Expected at Syracuse.

CITY IS UNDER MARTIAL LAW

As a Result of Street Riots in Which the Police Clashed With Frenzied Italians Among the Thousands of Striking Workingmen in That City, Many Persons Were Seriously Hurt and the State Troops Were Called.

Syracuse, N. Y., May 7.—The city is under martial law, two men are at the point of death in the hospital, twenty-five are seriously wounded and many are under arrest as the result of street riots in which the police clashed with frenzied Italians among the 2,750 union workingmen who are strike for increased wages.

Infantry, cavalry and battery companies of the state militia have taken up quarters at the state armory, the drill hall at police headquarters and points adjacent to the scene of the troubles, all of them in readiness for immediate action. The police are under orders from Chief Cadin to "shoot to kill at the first sign of a fresh outbreak."

It was in the shadow of the great tower of the cathedral of the Immaculate Conception that the rioting had its beginning. The old rectory of Bishop John Grimes is being razed to make way for a new Episcopal residence.

Striking Italians started a demonstration and fifty policemen were sent out in response to a riot call. The arrival of the officers seemed the signal for onslaughts, and in a few moments a bloody battle was in progress. The Italians wielded clubs and hurled stones. The policemen drew their revolvers. They fired first over the heads of the strikers to frighten them. Then they lowered their weapons. For a time it looked as if the Italians might overcome the officers. They were determined and they were almost crazed. But the police fought them hard and the strikers began to retreat from their position in front of the bishop's house. The police, many of them covered with blood and some of them so badly wounded that they were disabled, gathered in about twenty-five of the rioters. The strikers retreated toward Warren street. Firemen were called and a powerful stream of water was thrown upon the gang. The police followed the strikers, firing as they went. Thousands of spectators, reckless of the flying bullets and stones, followed along with the police, until finally the rioters were scattered.

LET 'EM STARVE, SAYS POETESS OF PASSION

Ella Wheeler Wilcox Disgusted With Suffragettes.

London, May 7.—In an interview, Ella Wheeler Wilcox, who is here, said while she sympathized with woman suffrage, she was "utterly out of patience and disgusted with the insane conduct of the women in England."

She advised that any of the militants who are sent to prison and go on a hunger strike be transported to some island and allowed to starve. "Speaking as a theosophist," said Mrs. Wilcox, "I think they are obsessed by the disembodied intelligences of revolutionaries. She adds: "It is obvious that these women have seriously retarded the suffrage movement. Were I a man I would say: 'We must postpone the granting of the suffrage.' In America there is no need of this view. The woman's movement has advanced much further there along normal lines, which is very curious, as the English women went into politics long before we did."

The latest device adopted by the militants to attract attention to their cause is the poisoning of dogs of high degree. The owner of a prize-winning spaniel that was thus disposed of received a note stating that "We are very sorry that your pretty dog must be sacrificed, but our rules are inexorably enforced. We are resolved to stop at nothing now. Every valuable prize winner or race horse, such as the winner of the Derby, shall be maimed or destroyed until we get votes for women. You and other owners of valuable property can only enjoy peace by helping us to get the vote."

The house of commons last night on the second reading rejected the bill which would have enfranchised some six million women who would have come under its qualifications, by a vote of 266 to 219. This ends the prospect of women getting the vote from the present parliament. The increased hostility to the measure now over last year, when the same proposition was defeated by the close vote of 222 to 208, is ascribed to the militant madness without which it is believed the bill would have been passed by a considerable majority. The serious women suffragists do not deny that the defeat of the bill and their loss of the franchise is due to what is called Panhursism.

POLICE INSPECTORS GUILTY

Grafting Officers Convicted by a Jury in New York.

New York, May 7.—Ex-Police Inspectors Dennis Sweeney, John J. Murtha, James F. Thompson and James E. Hussey, all captains in the police department, were found guilty of conspiring to obstruct justice and the administration of the laws. The offense is a misdemeanor and as such entails a maximum punishment of one year in the penitentiary and a fine not to exceed $500, or both.

All four of the men are still under indictment for bribery, which is a felony. The bribery indictments charge each with the collection of police graft while he was in command of the Harlem district. District Attorney Whitman plans to go on with the trials of the inspectors on these more serious charges as soon as possible.

The four men who had risen to the highest rank in the uniformed force of the police department, heard the verdict stolidly. Justice Seabury remanded the prisoners to the Tombs until Friday morning. All the defendants will appeal, according to the present plans.

EVACUATION OF SCUTARI

Powers Still Dickered With Montenegro Over the Date.

London, May 7.—No arrangements for the evacuation of Scutari by the Montenegrins have as yet been completed. It is understood that the powers through their representatives at Cetinje are dickered with Montenegro as to the date on which the foreign naval contingent shall land and take possession of the place. This will probably not be settled for two or three days. It is not known whether the Montenegrins will quit when the foreign naval contingent arrives, but the latter are expected to remain until an Albanian government has been established over Scutari.

HEAVY MAN FALLS; HURTS NOT SERIOUS

Lot Berkley of This City Hurlled to Ground at Connersville When Plank Breaks.

IS BROUGHT TO HOME HERE

Lot Berkley, whose home is at Rushville, fell and received a number of very painful injuries yesterday afternoon, while working on the new residence of the Rev. C. W. Radcliffe on West Seventh street says the Connersville News. The accident occurred near two o'clock. Mr. Berkley was working on the second story, standing on a high scaffold, which not being strong enough to withstand his heavy weight, parted in the middle letting him plunge headlong below, landing on the frame work with great force.

No bones were broken, and it is thought he received no very serious internal injuries. His shoulders and back were severely bruised and also scratched. He was sent to his home at Rushville late yesterday afternoon, and late today the attending physicians feel confident his injuries will not be lastingly serious. It is considered very fortunate Mr. Berkley was not hurt more dangerously, owing to his great avoirdupois, and the distance he fell. He weighs about two hundred and thirty pounds.

WILL STUDY IN GERMANY

Charles Wilson Due to Arrive in Berlin Today.

Charles Wilson of Chicago, a former Rushville boy, was due to arrive in Berlin, Germany, today to pursue his studies in pharmacy further. Mr. Wilson sailed from New York April 29. He has risen rapidly in his chosen profession. He first was employed in Wehrle's drug store here twelve years ago and then decided to work out his career in the drug business. Mr. Wilson took a course in Northwestern university at Evanston, Ill., and was later employed in a drug store. He owns an interest in a pharmacy business in Chicago.

BROTHER DIES OF FEVER.

Dr. J. L. Daugherty of Danville, Ind., who intended to open a veterinarian's office here, has written here that he will have to change his plans due to the death of his brother from typhoid fever at Danville. The latter was a veterinarian and Dr. Daugherty will remain at Danville to settle up his brother's estate and take up his practice.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Frazee of this city received word yesterday afternoon that a seven-pound baby girl had been born to their daughter, Mrs. Richard Sipe of Indianapolis, formerly Miss Grace Frazee.

CITY PLANS TO OIL ALL STREETS

voted with Dr. Parsons against the adoption of the plans and Kelley and Orme voted in favor of the plans. Thus the little "joker" was given a knock-out. To cinch matters Dr. Parsons moved that the street commissioner be instructed to sweep the streets as was done last summer. The motion was carried.

Last night was the time set for the receiving of bids on the West Tenth street improvement. The Ohio Construction company was awarded the contract for the roadway and Vance and Wicker landed the sidewalk contract. The roadway will be a water bound macadam highway. The improvement is to extend from Sexton street west to the end of the street.

Councilman Orme presented a contract with an automatic regulator concern. The firm wanted to place the regulator at the water and light plant on thirty days trial, and if it did not prove satisfactory the city was to send it back or if the city decided to keep it, the regulator was to cost $300. Mr. Orme moved that the superintendent be instructed to order it. He failed to get a second to his motion and Dr. Parsons moved that the contract be placed on file. Thus Mr. Orme was let down for the second time.

Councilman Parsons presented the fly ordinance which was prepared by the state board of health. The ordinance was not passed as it was found that the city has an ordinance that is even better than the one offered by the state board of health. The ordinance on the books was passed in 1908 and has all the provisions of the one presented by Dr. Parsons.

The order from the county auditor received at the last meeting asking the city to pay $25,000 toward the improvement of Perkins street was ordered placed on file. The board of commissioners can not render a judgment against the city and the matter is dropped as far as the city is concerned.

The question of plowing up several of the streets under the plan suggested by DeGolyer and company was left with the street committee. The construction company wants $12.50 per square and the street committee will investigate and see if this is the best price. Dr. Parsons wanted to advertise for bids but the street committee has the right to act in improvements of this kind. The street commissioner was instructed to repair the sidewalk approach to the bridge in West Eighth street.

The session ended after a long debate on the advisability of extending water mains into the Stewart and Tompkins addition. The people in this section are demanding water for fire protection and domestic use. Councilman Orme was in favor of the city extending three-four inch mains into the addition. The mains would be laid in Perkins, Willow and Cherry streets and would cost the city about $1500. The proposition was voted down. Kelley refused to support Orme's motion because it called for a four inch pipe instead of a six inch main.

The session was one of the busiest in recent years and the clashes resembled those of a few years ago. It was the first time Dr. Parsons and Orme have clashed since Mr. Orme became a member of the council and this first clash resulted in favor of Dr. Parsons.
